

Statement of Rep. Kenny Yuko on Governor's State of the State Address

State Representative Kenny Yuko (D-Richmond Heights) released the following statement this afternoon in response to the Governor's State of the State Address:

“Watching Governor Ted Strickland give his 2010 State of the State address, it quickly reminded me of watching LeBron James play against the Lakers. Despite a stellar defense, LeBron always finds a way to score. Even though the economy attempted to keep our Governor from ‘scoring’, Governor Strickland scored easily with plans to get Ohioans back to work and to further develop Ohio’s advanced energy industry. Just as LeBron scores a winning basket as time runs out, Governor Strickland proudly announced that just today the Education Commission gave Ohio their award for the most innovative education system in the country in recognition of the comprehensive education reform that was created last year.”

A text of the Governor's remarks is available at <http://www.governor.ohio.gov/2010StateoftheStateAddress.aspx>